

QUALITY

Effective and well integrated Quality Management Systems (QMS) are at the heart of any modern business. Qualiteq recognise that there is no such thing as an “off the shelf” solution and will work with you and your team to tailor a system customised to your business’s needs.

Examples of the services Qualiteq can provide include:

Development, maintenance and ongoing improvement of your QMS

Advice and guidance on the requirements for compliance with BS EN ISO 9001:2008 and the development of a change over strategy to BS EN ISO 9001:2015

Management, planning and delivery of internal and supplier audits

Professional audit support

Management of your third party certification body assessment visits in order to achieve UKAS accreditation

Process and project control improvement

Ongoing telephone and e-mail support

We have extensive experience across many industries but have particular knowledge of the highly demanding quality requirements within the aerospace and offshore oil and gas sectors.

Why you should implement ISO 9001 Quality Management?

ISO 9001 provides a framework for excellence that enables businesses to implement, develop and improve their own business management systems for the design, manufacture and supply of virtually any product and service anywhere in the world.

Effective management of ISO 9001 is based on industry best practice and helps organisations demonstrate their commitment to quality. It provides assurance that your business has a robust quality system in place which will improve efficiency, time and cost saving and ultimately enhance customer relationships.

What are the benefits of ISO 9001 Quality Management?
